

Biographical Information

Malcolm D. Barnett
Managing Director
Corning Cable Systems EU

Malcolm D. Barnett began his career in cable technology with BICC Communications, where he held a number of successively responsible positions, including sales, business manager, managing director, and director of technology. With Corning Incorporated's acquisition of the company in 1999, he accepted the position of managing director for Corning Cables Limited. In 2000, Barnett became senior vice president, sales and marketing, Corning Cable Systems EU, a position he held until 2001 when he accepted his current responsibilities as managing director for the company.

Barnett completed his undergraduate studies at Victoria College, Jersey, UK, and is an honors graduate of the University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology, Manchester, UK. From 1997 to 1999 he served as a visiting professor of technology management at John Moores University, Liverpool, UK.

A native of Great Britain, Barnett and his wife, Glenys, have two grown sons, Jonathon and Anthony.

January 2004

Corning Incorporated
Corporate Communications
607-974-9000